The Louisville Post of yesterday says: Pilot Billy Chadwick, Louisville's encyclopedia on inland marine matters, is lying very ill at his home, 2300 Eddy street, having been laid up several days with something like pneumonia, and he needs the attention of his friends. Mr. Chadwick, in health, enjoys one of the rarest memories of any man in his profession, and his catalogue of steamboats runs clear back to the first one of any and all types. He was an old-time flatboat floater, and his record of incidents, accidents and marine history is wonderful. He is a gentleman of the old school. During the great war Billy Chadwick stood at the wheel, and went through many romances, never flickering from his duty. He is one of the few very old pilots remaining in Louisville.

The Best Things To Eat

EDDYVILLE COUPLE.

THEY MARRY AT ST. JOHN'S, REV. FATHER AUER OFFICIATING.

Joseph Emberger, aged 33, a farmer, and Miss Cordelia Wimmer, aged 31, of Eddyville, Lyon county, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and secured a license to marry. They drove out to St. John's, in the country, and were united in marriage by Rev. Father Auer, of that place, returning to Eddyville this morning.

The parents of the couple both came to this country from Austria.

LONG SKIRTS ARE LEGAL. WAS A GREAT MISCHIEF MAKER.

New York courts acknowledge long skirts to be the inalienable right and privilege of women. In the appellate division of the supreme court the other day a suit for damages against the Kingston City Railway company was decided in favor of the woman—the company's defense being that it was not responsible for such accident as the catching of a dress skirt might entail.

According to the court, however, any and all street car companies must allow sufficient time to a woman alighting from a street car not only to step off, but to clear her skirts from any obstruction on the platform upon which they have caught.

If the conductor starts the car the instant she alights, before she has had time to release her skirts from such obstruction, and she is dragged along by the car and injured, the railway company is liable for the injuries thus sustained.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler is understood to be a candidate for congress again from his district in Alabama.

The rebel general, Malpas, is reported to have been killed by Americans in the Philippines. A number of insurgents, including a colonel and seven captains, surrendered.

Milan, formerly king of Servia, who died on the 11th in Vienna, will probably be remembered long in history as an example of all that a monarch should not be. Dissipated, profligate and unscrupulous, about his only public performances worthy of note were those by which he kept Servia perpetually torn by dissensions or embroiled with its neighbors. Even after his abdication, which followed his disgraceful quarrel with Queen Natalie, he managed to keep several other European courts in turmoil by his capacity for getting into trouble. On the throne he had been a constant menace to the safety of his country, which he led to defeat in the war which he himself precipitated. Out of power he was scarcely less dangerous, and his comparatively recent success in getting himself appointed commander in chief of the Serbian army showed the dangerous extent to which he still wielded influence. Throughout his whole career, characterized chiefly by his dissolute habits and his predilection for looting public funds, gambling and dissipation, it is questionable if there is a single noteworthy creditable act to offset his manifold crimes.

999. SOCIAL NOTES.

The Young Ladies' Glee club met this afternoon with Mrs. James E. English.

The ladies of the synagogue promise the greatest treat of the season to be given in the next few weeks. It is to be a carnival and the plans are for something unique in that line. They will have the booths with "bargains for sale," an attractive diversified program daily, a score of interesting villages—in fact all the essentials of a jolly carnival. That it will be a great success is not to be doubted, as the ladies in charge are well versed in this line of entertaining.

CUBA'S CONSTITUTION

WAS EXPECTED TO BE REPORTED TODAY FOR ADOPTION.

Havana, Feb. 14.—The finishing touches were given yesterday to the constitution by the editing committee, who will report the corrected project to the constitutional convention today, when it will undoubtedly be adopted. At the last moment the reference to "Pernicious Foreigners" was struck out, and a clause was inserted providing for two sessions of congress, beginning in April and November, instead of one. Senors De Quesada, Tamayo, Gomez, Villenas and Silva were appointed a committee to draw up a proposition defining the relations to exist between Cuba and the United States.
